Thank you all for your prayers regarding my holiday in Israel. I had a wonderful time. But still pray for me, for I feel very disorientated now that I am home, and the devil would seek to make use of that. There will be no news updates until I get sorted out at home, and until I give a full report, including photographs, of the trip. Thanks.