Sorry I don't feel much like updating the webpage at today. Our server in work crashed last weekend. When I arrived in work on Monday morning, it was quite an ordeal. Not only did it crash but it wouldn't boot up again, as a lot of the files had been corrupted. I was praying and praying that I would be able to get it working again, but God didn't answer that prayer! I phoned our IT support company and they couldn't even get it working again. So we have to buy a new server. Thankfully all of our data was backed up just shortly before the crash. It could have been a complete disaster, especially seeing we have had a lot of pay-offs lately, and the recession has hit us hard. I have spent all of today trying to get another computer set up in its place, so I am quite tired. But I have felt God's peace through all of this, and things are starting to get back to normal again. Praise God!
