No scientific evidence that people are born gay or transgender, Johns Hopkins researchers say