Former US Vice President Al Gore is to receive the Nobel peace prize today for his efforts to educate the public on the issue global warming. It seems Al Gore has now become the public face of the global warming campaign, following his recent video production on the phenomenon entitled, "An Inconvenient Truth". He is to share the award - which includes a cash prize of some $1.5 million , with the UN Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change. Al Gore was praised by the Nobel prize winners group as having done more to highlight the issue of global warming that any other person...

Quote: ""His strong commitment, reflected in political activity, lectures, films and books, has strengthened the struggle against climate change," the citation said. "He is probably the single individual who has done most to create greater worldwide understanding of the measures that need to be adopted."

Al Gore may be talking more about global warming than anyone else on the planet, but his extravagant lifestyle is also contributing more to global warming than anyone else on the planet. According to this news article , Al Gore burned as much kilowatt hours of electricity in the month of August than the average American family burns in two years. Other affluent people that have championed the global warming cause whilst directly contributing to its effects include many pop-stars who travelled the world in private jets, preaching to people how we need to cut down on our CO2 emissions. But Al Gore's video production which is being sent to schools across the United States and the United Kingdom will face a hard sell in Britain following a recent judicial ruling which branded it politically partisan .

Quote: "In what is a rare judicial ruling on what children can see in the class-room, Mr Justice Barton was at pains to point out that the "apocalyptic vision" presented in the film was politically partisan and not an impartial analysis of the science of climate change. "It is plainly, as witnessed by the fact that it received an Oscar this year for best documentary film, a powerful, dramatically presented and highly professionally produced film," he said in his ruling. "It is built around the charismatic presence of the ex-Vice-President, Al Gore, whose crusade it now is to persuade the world of the dangers of climate change caused by global warming. "It is now common ground that it is not simply a science film - although it is clear that it is based substantially on scientific research and opinion – but that it is a political film."

The judge also found nine distinct errors made in the video presented by Gore as evidence for climate change, although he agreed that global warming was a problem that needed to be addressed. The head of Creation Research John Mackay announced on Revelation TV on Wednesday night that his organization has produced a video on climate change from a Biblical perspective, entitled A Really Inconvenient Truth . John Mackay said he believed the real reason why Al Gore was presented with a Nobel peace prize for his video is because he is pushing a globalist response to what is being portrayed as a global problem. If politicians can present global warming as a imminent threat to every nation on earth, the next stage will be to set up a global authority to address the issue. Politicians need some sort of external crisis in order for people to agree to a one world government, and two of these seem to have afflicted the world of late, global warming and global terrorism. Perhaps through the Divine judgements of Revelation, combined with the wars in the Middle East, the people of the world will only be too glad to hand over their sovereignty to a world leader.

Revelation 13:7
And it was given unto him to make war with the saints, and to overcome them: and power was given him over all kindreds, and tongues, and nations.
