

An international panel of two dozen former pilots and governmental officials called on the US government to reopen investigations into UFO sightings today, amid concerns over safety and national security. Each member of the panel has either witnessed a UFO first-hand, or has conducted an investigation into an alleged sighting. James Fox, producer and director of the documentary "Out of the blue", has teamed up with the group to pressure the US government to start an international exchange of information on the phenomenon.

Quote: "Using previously classified documents, the group intends to discuss many well-documented cases, including two already investigated by the American government. The two cases include a Peruvian Air Force pilot who fired several rounds at a craft that was not affected and an Iranian pilot who claims his control panel became inoperable when he attempted to fire on a UFO. Both pilots will speak publicly about the events on Monday at a panel discussion in Washington D.C., moderated by Arizona Governor Fife Symington.

James Fox believes that despite ending its "Blue Book" investigations into UFOs several decades ago, the US administration continues to covertly document the sightings. He also said the reason why world governments may be reluctant to go public about the phenomenon could be because they do not want to admit they cannot control their airspace. Fox also commented that if everyone came clean on the issue, it would have a "unifying effect" on the inhabitants of planet earth...

Quote: ""Several generals are here, and they said that it's difficult for any military force to disclose information that would suggest they don't have control, and expose their weaknesses," he said. Fox, who is producing a follow-up to his UFO documentary, thinks the outing of such information "would definitely have a unifying effect on all of us, and it would give us the bigger picture of how we fit into the universe. We're not the only planet with life or the only intelligence in the universe, which in my opinion would be rather depressing."□

And that is what I find most disturbing about this article. For this idea that mankind must somehow be united in order to survive is the same one that is being promoted by these so-called extra-terrestrials and their abductees. I commented on this aspect of the UFO phenomenon in recent news event that was related to this issue. One thing Fox did get right, we are not the only intelligence in this universe. There is another intelligence out there that is vastly superior to mankind's, and poses a very definite threat to this planet. The Bible calls him the "god of this world"

(2nd Corinthians 4:4), and the "

prince of the power of the air

" (Ephesians 2:2). He has millions and millions of demons at his bidding, who's goal it is to deceive mankind and ultimately destroy God's creation. One of the ways he is attempting this is to unite all nations under one governmental system (Daniel 7:23). Satan will then promote a man to head this world government (2nd Thessalonians 2:4), who will lead one final attempt to destroy God's people (Daniel 8:24) and prevent Christ from coming back to rule and reign over the earth (Revelation 17:14). If you are a Christian, if your sins are forgiven (Ephesians 1:7) and you have the Holy Spirit dwelling inside of you (Ephesians 1:13), then praise God that "

greater is He that is in you, than he that is in the world \(the devil\)

", 1st John 4:4. According to New Age and occult teaching, mankind is being prepared for an event in which millions of people will mysteriously disappear. Satan will be doing his level-best to disguise this event as some sort of extra-terrestrial intervention in this world's evolutionary cycle. But in reality the disappeared will be Christians, who will have been taken home to be with Christ when He comes for His Church (John 14:3). Satan is real, demons are real, UFOs are real (although not alien life forms), the Bible is real, Heaven is real and Jesus Christ is the true Messiah. Don't be deceived, and don't say nobody warned you. Trust in Jesus Christ for salvation today.

Isaiah 14:12-14

How art thou fallen from heaven, O Lucifer, son of the morning! how art thou cut down to the ground, which didst weaken the nations! For thou hast said in thine heart, I will ascend into heaven, I will exalt my throne above the stars of God: I will sit also upon the mount of the congregation, in the sides of the north: I will ascend above the heights of the clouds; I will be like the most High. Yet thou shalt be brought down to hell, to the sides of the pit.
